

SNYDER'S WINS AND LOSSES

■ Points won by ■ Points lost by

In the nearly seven seasons that Quin Snyder was the head basketball coach at the University of Missouri, the Tigers made four consecutive appearances in the NCAA Tournament. Snyder replaced 32-year veteran head coach Norm Stewart on April 7, 1999. Although Missouri enjoyed early success under Snyder, a recruiting scandal involving Ricky Clemons culminated with NCAA sanctions.

- 1
March 13, 2000: Snyder named Rookie Coach of the Year by Basketball Times magazine.
- 2
March 23, 2002: MU loses to Oklahoma, 81-75, in the Elite Eight — one game away from the Final Four.
- 3
Jan. 17, 2003: Point Guard Ricky Clemons is charged with second-degree domestic assault for choking his girlfriend. He is suspended from the Jan. 18 game against Oklahoma State.
- 4
Sept. 24, 2003: The NCAA begins investigating the MU men's basketball team. Clemons' girlfriend had alleged Snyder gave Clemons clothes and money.
- 5
May 11-June 18, 2004: Assistant basketball coaches Lane Odom and Tony Harvey resign. They were also accused of giving Clemons money.
- 6
June 21, 2004: Melvin Watkins is hired as associate basketball coach at MU.
- 7
Nov. 3, 2004: The NCAA hands down sanctions against Mizzou, including limits on recruiting and scholarships.
- 8
Feb. 10, 2006: Snyder resigns. Watkins becomes interim head coach.